

About Quality Circles

The International Convention of Student's Quality Circles (ICSQC) is an annual meet, in which students from around the world come together to present case studies on pressing global issues. A group of students from my school and I presented a case study on the issue of 'Improper dieting habits and lack of exercise among high schoolers in Madurai'. Our case study won in the intra-school, inter-school and regional levels, before being selected to present at the 23rd ICSQC Global Finals in Nepal in October, 2022. Given that this was the first global finals held after the pandemic, the organizers decided not to award any team prizes, and have every participating team a token of love award for their case study presentations.
